

This will stifle innovation and competition. It is a technology that will keep honest consumers from legitimate uses and will be ineffective at preventing illegitimate usage. A basic pain in the butt for everyday consumers with no real benefit. Public transmissions over public air waves should remain open.